TO ATTEND PLATTS FUNERAL.

Verk Congress Delegation Plans to Go.

Washington, March 7.—Almost every Republican member of the New York Congress delegation is expected to leave Washington to-morrow night for Owego to attend the funeral of former Senator Thomas Collier Platt, which will take place on Wednesday. The delegation will leave the capital probably in a apecial car Representatives Dwight, Olcott, Bennet. Easestt, Vreeland. Geulden, Durey, Driscoll, Fornes and Fish siready have signified their intentica of attending the funeral, and other members are expected to go.

Secretary Rennett of the Senate will leave with the Congressional party, but it was not known to-night whether or not Senators Root and Depew would be able to leave the city at this time. Senator Senators Root and Depew would be able to leave the city at this time. Senator Depew, it was said, probably will go.

ALBANY, March 7.—A concurrent readulation, offered in the Assembly by Assemblyman Frank L. Howard of Tiogs, was adopted by the Senate and Assembly to-night, providing for a committee of his Senators and seven Assemblymen to attend the funeral of the late Thomas. C. Platt at Owego on Wednesday. The resolution was promptly adopted, five in the Assembly and later by the Senate. The committee will be named to-morrow. It is expected that a special car will convey the committee. State officials and friends of the late Senator Platt from Albany to Owego.

Mr. Lauterbach says in an affidavit that shortly after their marriage he agreed to give his wife certain money for household disbursements and that such money as was not used was to be put into a trust fund for the use of himself and his wife has extravagant habits and is likely to dissipate it. He says she has been obliged to use narcotices for years on account of neurasthenis and insomais.

Mrs. Lauterbach replies that she has never been addicted to narcotios and that she never agreed, either verbally or otherwise, to put aside any money for a trust fund. She says she never heard of it until the complaint in the case was served on her. She declares that all money saved by her was due to economy with the household funds. She admits that her husband gave her the house at 2 East Seventy-eighth street but says he had a mortgage of $25,000 on it and that during his financial difficulties, "brought in by his speculative ventures," she was a waying insurance, mortgages and rent, "and while she was leading a life of self-"

The Rev. Then the Commissioner made an appeal to be absolved from responsibility for the destruction of the beauty of the Broadway parkwag by boys who would insist upon playing therein. He really couldn't be everywhere at one time, he said, and how could he know that the boys played there? It was the duty of the police to see that they didn't. He knew that this sort of thing happened on Sunday, because some one had taken pains to tell him about it. What should he do about that fence from 102d street to 122d street, for which he had asked an appropriation of $50,000? Was it worth while to put it up? He really wished some one could induce the parents to educate their children not to trample down the grass and break shrubs and trees.
